Observations...

By the Editor

The death of John J. Kennedy of Biloxi, comptroller of customs at New Orleans, is a tremendous loss to the Mississippi Gulf Coast... an outstanding citizen, he served as mayor of Biloxi for a number of years and under his administration Biloxi began its rise to national recognition... he had tendered his resignation as comptroller effective as of September 30, and expected to spend his remaining days at his home in Biloxi enjoying, as he said, "the gulf coast breezes"... men with the courage, character and foresight of John Kennedy are the builders, not only of their community but of America... we join with the many of his friends in offering our sincere condolences to his family... Bishop Leo F. Fahey, our native son, coadjutor bishop of Baker City, reached Bay St. Louis Wednesday from Europe... having made his ad limina visit in Rome... he together with Bishop Richard O. Gerow were in the tour sponsored by Arch-Bishop Rummel of New Orleans... Bishop Fahey will be here for several weeks and will return to Baker following the jubilee celebration of Bishop Gerow... the beach road fill has been completed to a point where traffic can make its way from St. Charles street to the bridge... it is a little rough in spots but as soon as it settles we understand the board will put a course of shells over the fill, and then when with a little asphalt we should have a pretty good temporary road... it is also intended to slope the fill from the roadway to the wall in order not to have too sharp drop off and to prevent erosion... by the way it would probably astound the average person to know that the whole job so far has not cost but about one half of the money appropriated... the members of the Board of Supervisors deserve the commendation of the people and we tip our hats to them... REA day in Bay St. Louis will be Saturday, October 9... last year approximately 1500 people from the rural area of Hancock, Pearl River and Harrison Counties were in town... Hardin Shattuck, the live, wide-awake manager of the Coast Electric Power Association in predicting 2500 for this year... an opportunity for the merchants of Bay St. Louis to encourage these visitors to come on other days than the annual meeting of the REA... these people live in your trade area... we should particularly rediscover Hancock County... how about it, boys... and while we speak of rediscovering Hancock County, you can bet your bottom dollar that a visit to Picayune on September 22-23-24, will tell the story of the rediscovery of Pearl River County... the Pearl River County Livestock show... the county has come from the bottom of the list to near the top in farm income... and they are proud to show their accomplishments... we did hear something some six or eight months ago about a county fair or livestock show in Bay St. Louis... was it merely a rumor or a passing thought... a trip to the livestock show might lend some inspiration... St. Stanislaus plays Foley, Ala., in their first football game on Friday night at the Stadium... Al Voight, energetic and public spirited Chevrolet dealer has made it possible for the Bay St. Louis schools to have a brand new Chevrolet dual control automobile to teach the youth of our city how to safely operate a car... the car was delivered the past week... thanks Al... and we feel certain that every parent feels as we do... your action in securing this car may be the means of saving the life of many a person... think the city commissioners are receiving their baptism of fire this week... the assessment rolls are open for inspection... and, of course, there are some discrepancies in valuation of various properties... it would be phenomenal if some did not appear... a real assessment made by authorities on the subject would cure all the evils and would relieve your financial situation... Mr. Commissioners... you do not have the time to inspect each piece of property to determine its value... of course you could easily ascertain inequalities and you should certainly correct these... a lot and block system of assessment cannot be made overnight, and you will have to battle it through under your present handicaps... but it may be wise to be doing some thinking so that the next assessment may be equalized... no one complains of a fair assessment.

POSTPONE MEETING
The meeting of the St. Joseph Academy parents' club scheduled for Tuesday, September 13th had to be postponed until this coming Tuesday, September 20th. Please note the date and all members and friends are asked to try and attend.

Bishop Fahey Returns To Bay After Visit To Holy Father

BISHOP FAHEY

Most Rev. Bishop Leo F. Fahey, D. D., coadjutor bishop of Baker City, Ore., returned Wednesday night from Rome where he made his ad limina visit. He is now in Bay St. Louis for a month's visit.

Bishop Fahey, a native of Bay St. Louis who served as assistant pastor at Our Lady of the Gulf church for many years, was one of a group of clergymen and laymen who made the pilgrimage to the Vatican.

The ad limina consists of visits to St. Peter's and St. Paul's in Rome where the bishops pray for the intentions of the Holy Father before the tombs of the apostles.

Each bishop is required to make such a visit every five years and to report to the Pope after having fulfilled this duty.

Bishop Fahey made the trip as the official representative of Bishop Joseph F. McGrath of the Baker City, Ore. diocese. Also performing the ad limina were Arch-bishop Francis R. Rummel of New Orleans, Bishop Jules B. Geannard of the diocese of Lafayette, and Bishop Richard Oliver Gerow of Natchez.

The lay pilgrimage was the first ever to make the trip from the Deep South and was under the direction of Arch-bishop Rummel.

Pearl River County Schedules Annual Livestock Exhibition

The annual Pearl River County Livestock Show at Picayune will be a bigger and better affair from all reports.

"It is to be held on three days at the tung oil center. This Thursday, Friday and Saturday have been set aside for the event. Fine cattle, a direct result of pasture improvement programs now being carried on, will be shown for the benefit of dairymen and beef raisers.

A tung tree contest which has attracted a great deal of interest will be another feature of the show.

This contest has been a big factor in the increase in tung production per acre in this section.

Also, bigger and better this year will be the woman's style show, the club exhibits and farm produce exhibits.

Everyone in Pearl River and adjoining counties is invited to the Livestock Show. It is informative in that it helps to give the farmers an idea of what has been done for the past year in the tung, livestock and related fields.

City Park Topic Of Garden Club Meeting Thursday

The project of establishing a city park in Bay St. Louis was the principal topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden club last Thursday afternoon.

No definite action was taken by the group at this meeting held at the home of Mrs. George Stevenson. Arguments both for and against the project were voiced, and further discussion was left for the next regular meeting which is scheduled for the second Thursday in October.

Mrs. Caroline Kiefer was appointed by the president, Mrs. J. R. Rollins, to make a survey of the situation and to obtain an estimate of the cost of setting up such a municipal playground. Facts and figures will be presented at the next meeting and the club will vote on whether or not to take this as a club project.

Last Thursday's meeting was the first since the club ended formal activity at the beginning of the summer.

The executive board of the club for the coming year is as follows: Mrs. J. R. Rollins, president; Mrs. George Stevenson, first vice president; Mrs. L. T. Boyd, second vice president; Mrs. W. L. Reeder, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary Mauffray, corresponding secretary; Mrs. O. I. Radford, treasurer; Mrs. John Bell, chairman; Mrs. Ben Hille, beautification chairman; Mrs. N. C. Erwin, land; Mrs. Caroline Kiefer, publicity; Miss Louise Crawford, membership; Mrs. T. A. Shaffer, scrapbook; Mrs. H. C. Glover, hostess chairman; and Mrs. Reeder, yearbook.

Band Members Elect Carnovale Captain At St. Stanislaus College

Norbert Carnovale has been elected captain of the St. Stanislaus band, Bro. Romuald, director announced today.

Other officers elected by the band members were Norman Carnovale, first lieutenant; Gilbert Schmidt, second lieutenant; Alberto Zambrano, sergeant; Albert Burns, Jack Drescher, Sal D'Angelo and Henry Capdepon corporals.

Thirty-two of last year's band members were present at the first meeting held last Monday. With these key men returning there is a possibility of producing another superior organization this year, Bro. Romuald said.

Last year the group won the superior rating in the State Band Contest at Jackson, and took top honors in both concert and marching in the New Orleans festival last May. For these performances the band received a trophy at the state contest and two trophies at the festival. Every member of the band was awarded a medal.

Bro. Romuald explained that the band is governed by its own corps of officers elected by the membership at large. These officers have already met on several occasions and completed the formulation of the point system which will be put into effect Monday. Without the help of the officers corps, he said, it is next to impossible for the director to get a systematic check-up on the many disciplinary details involved in a musical organization.

It was also announced that the Stanislaus dance orchestra held its first rehearsal Friday night. The instrumentation of this group consists of five saxophones, five brasses, a piano, bass, drums and two violins. Anyone interested in hiring the orchestra for a dance write the director for information, the announcement said.

ASHTON FOOD BUYS DI BENEDETTO STORE

The Ashton Food Stores of Gulfport has bought the Joseph Di Benedetto Grocery Store located on South Beach. The new owners will take over operation of the store October 1.

In charge of the grocery will be Gaston Robertson, manager, who will move to Bay St. Louis with his family in the near future.

Mr. Robertson has been an employee of the Ashton Food stores for a number of years. From 1923 to 1927 he worked as manager of the Coast Serve Self grocery operated by Mutchler and Ashton and located in the Echo building. From here he went to Gulfport where he has been ever since.

"The store will be conducted as other Ashton Stores," Mr. Robertson said in Gulfport Thursday, "rendering good service and selling high quality foods."

Voight Presents Automobile To Bay High School For Use In AAA Sponsored Driver Training Courses

A 1949 Chevrolet four-door sedan with dual controls was presented to Bay High school Monday by Al Voight, local Chevrolet dealer. The auto will be used in training high school youths to drive properly and safely in the hope of reducing the traffic accident rate now registered by that age group.

WELL QUALIFIED
Professor A. B. Dubuisson of the Bay High faculty will be the instructor. Recently returned from Jackson where he took a rigid course in how to teach young drivers to drive well, the professor is well qualified to perform the responsible task which confronts him.

These instructions are sponsored by the American Automobile Association represented in the state by the Mississippi Auto Club. The training is offered both for high school students and for adults.

The high school activity is made possible through local auto dealers who furnish the training cars without expense to the schools.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE
"If furnishing of these cars to our schools does no more than save one life or broken limb as a result of the training, our efforts will be more than repaid," Mr. Voight said in presenting the car. S. J. Ingram, superintendent of city schools, accepted the car for the school and expressed appreciation to Mr. Voight and the auto club for making these courses possible.

Professor Dubuisson's training was also taken at an AAA sponsored school, and he holds a certificate indicating that he has taken the training and passed all AAA tests and is, therefore, qualified to instruct young drivers.

At the high school seniors will be given first preference in registering for the driver courses. The group will be limited to 16 pupils whose training will consist of a minimum of eight hours behind the wheel, and at least 20 hours in the car. One day a week will be devoted to class room work, the instructor said.

Welfare Payroll Is $8800 Monthly, Fulltime County Worker Is Sought

Hancock County's welfare payroll totaled $8,800 last month T. T. Robin president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, told members at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

Citing figures given him by Mrs. Norton Haas, county welfare agent, he said that only about $350 of this amount was used for administrative purposes. The balance went to pay various benefits, to the sick, and the like.

SUPERVISORS APPROVE
Sixty-six and two-thirds percent of this amount is furnished by the federal government. Mr. Robin stated, while the state pays the remaining thirty-three and one third per cent.

According to Mrs. Haas' report, the county has applied for a full time child welfare worker and the board of supervisors has approved the application. Under the plan as submitted to the board of supervisors, the county will be called upon to furnish $50 of the worker's salary, office space and a telephone.

The state in turn will pay $150 toward the worker's salary, a $120 salary for a secretary, and will furnish all expenses.

Mr. Robin also mentioned the national meeting of welfare workers that will be held at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi next week. This he said, is the first meeting of its type ever held in Mississippi and added that some 2000 delegates from all over the country will attend.

ELECTION COMING

The Chamber of commerce will elect officers for the coming year in the near future, Mr. Robin stated. Letters explaining the election procedure, membership rosters and ballots will be mailed to all members soon. Each member will vote for four fellow members to fill the positions of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer and will return his ballot to the C of C office in the Russell building, where the eight members receiving the most votes will be named nominees. At the following general meeting the entire membership will elect to the board of directors four of the members nominated.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE
The annual membership drive also begins in October, the president reminded, and expressed the hope that all present members would renew their affiliation with the organization.

Also mentioned was the fire which occurred on the bridge over the Bay of St. Louis last Sunday evening. Even though the blaze was small and immediately extinguished, it is added evidence to support the request for the construction of a steel and concrete bridge across the bay, Mr. Robin pointed out. He urged all members to speak out for a new bridge and expressed the hope that this subject would be thoroughly considered and acted upon at the special session of the state legislature which convenes in October.

WEBB MOTHERS MEET ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The Mothers Club of the Webb school held its first meeting of the school year on Wednesday at 3:00 p. m. in the lunch room with a good representation of mothers present. Those attending were Mesdames Lewis Henderson, Andrew Carver, George Duke, Girard Freeman, Owen Heitzmann, Ollie Mitchell, Roland Holzhauser, George Fletcher and F. D. Roberts, and the teachers, Miss Pauline Russ and Mrs. Claiborne Ladner.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Ben Hille, president; Mrs. George Duke, vice-president; Mrs. George Fletcher, secretary and treasurer. The second Wednesday of each month was set as the day for regular monthly meeting. It was decided to increase the salary of Mrs. Roberts who supervises the cooking of the meals in recognition of her having showed a profit of $90 for the club last year. The club also decided to give free lunches to under privileged children and Mrs. Ladner, Miss Russ, Mrs. Carver and Mrs. Roberts were named as a committee to investigate these cases who are reported as eligible for them.

Several things are scheduled to raise money to finance the lunch room and defray other expenses that the school may need to have financed. A spaghetti supper is scheduled on the night of September 24. A bazaar for October 13 provided this date is open. There will be cokes, funny books and such things sold.

The Central School P. T. A. held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night at the school. Mrs. Denie Tonkel, vice president, presided, in the absence of Mrs. S. J. Mauffray, president, who is ill.

A unique forerunner of the regular meeting had been worked out and all grade teachers were in their respective rooms. The parents went to the rooms of the teachers who will have charge of their children for a thirty minute get acquainted session. In the auditorium, Miss Alma Parker, junior high, and J. T. Broadus, principal, met the parents whose children are in junior high and high school.

Mr. Broadus called on teachers to introduce themselves and called on parents to do likewise and tell what grades their children are entering. The meeting opened with the singing "The More We Get Together the Happier We Will Be" led by Mr. George Kramer. The roll was called to determine what grade had the greatest number of parents and friends present. The winners were the first grade with twenty-nine present.

Mr. Ingram introduced the new teachers added to the faculty as follows: Mrs. Warren Traub, principal; Taylor School; Miss Orrie Floyd, high school librarian; Mrs. J. T. Broadus; English; W. W. Ruscoe, band director; B. R. Nobles, assistant coach.

Circuit Court Convenes Juries Selected, Docket Set By Judge Corbin

The Hancock County circuit court convened Monday with Judge L. C. Corbin presiding. Petit and grand juries were selected and three cases were set for trial.

Named to the grand jury were Malon Dawsey, Alf Kennedy, R. B. Shaw, Lewis C. Lee, Oris Ladner, George Smith, Dalter Carbonette, Berdie Rester, Sidney Bennett, Felton Bourgeois, Cruse Smith, W. J. Carbonette, Clemens Cuevas, Lucien Hoda, Raymond Talbot, E. G. Kelley, Charlie Moran, Plumber Shaw and Adolph Ory. Raymond Talbot was named foreman of the Grand Jury.

Petit jury number one was chosen as follows: Sam Lombardo, Roy Whitfield, Robert Stewart, Sylvan Ladner, J. J. Sick, Herbert Zengaring, Walter Penlon, Sylvester Luxich, Tom Bourgeois, Mabren Eccles, and F. H. Shaw.

Selected for petit jury number two were John J. Fayard, Prentiss Lott, Eustis Ladner, Alfred Choina, Mose Burch and William Thigpen.

THREE CASES
As of press time Thursday the grand jury had added no cases to the docket as set by Judge Corbin. On the docket is one manslaughter case in which Mrs. L. J. Burg is the defendant and a grand larceny case in which the defendant is Percy Peters. Also listed is a case in which Wallace Bourgeois is defendant. He is charged with breaking and carrying away a bridge in Waveland. The Town of Waveland is the complainant.

After selecting the juries Monday Judge Corbin spoke at length on the purpose of the circuit court which he said was to enable the people to check up on their elected and appointed officials and try and penalize individuals who behave contrary to the dictates of the law and society. The courts, he said, "seek to do the most good for the most people."

CHARGES JURY
Charging the jury to faithfully perform its duties, the judge briefly outlined the various types of crime to be investigated. First, there are crimes of violence. Then he suggested there are crimes which hinge around attempts of individuals to obtain money and property without performing honest labor to get it.

CENTRAL P. T. A. HOLDS FIRST MEET OF YEAR

The Central School P. T. A. held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night at the school. Mrs. Denie Tonkel, vice president, presided, in the absence of Mrs. S. J. Mauffray, president, who is ill.

A unique forerunner of the regular meeting had been worked out and all grade teachers were in their respective rooms. The parents went to the rooms of the teachers who will have charge of their children for a thirty minute get acquainted session. In the auditorium, Miss Alma Parker, junior high, and J. T. Broadus, principal, met the parents whose children are in junior high and high school.

Mr. Broadus called on teachers to introduce themselves and called on parents to do likewise and tell what grades their children are entering. The meeting opened with the singing "The More We Get Together the Happier We Will Be" led by Mr. George Kramer. The roll was called to determine what grade had the greatest number of parents and friends present. The winners were the first grade with twenty-nine present.

Mr. Ingram introduced the new teachers added to the faculty as follows: Mrs. Warren Traub, principal; Taylor School; Miss Orrie Floyd, high school librarian; Mrs. J. T. Broadus; English; W. W. Ruscoe, band director; B. R. Nobles, assistant coach.

Attend Weiner Roast

Members of the B. T. U. of the First Baptist Church were entertained at a weiner roast at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Dase on Felicity street Wednesday.

Those attending were Carl and Marie Campbell, Billie Dase, Frances and Grace Woods, Patsy and Peggy Lee Favre, Larry Favre, Patricia Kelly, Elizabeth and Judy Morris, Tommy Hill, Howard Parker, Carol and Barbara Mangum. Mrs. Dase was assisted by Mrs. David Mangum and Mrs. John Woods.

Going to New Orleans from here for the Mirandoni-Bryan wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kenney, Miss Irma Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Edouard Carriere, and Mrs. Charles G. Mooreau.

Bernard Farr left this week to resume classes at Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette, La.

Sister Louise Theresa Dies Tuesday Morning

Sister Louise Theresa nee Wilhemina Tarut, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tarut of New Orleans died Tuesday morning, September 13th. Sister was 88 years old and a member of the order of the Sisters of St. Joseph for 72 years.

She is survived by one nephew, Mr. Charles Tarut of New Orleans, two grand nieces and one great grand niece.

Sister Louise Theresa has been at St. Joseph Academy in Bay St. Louis at several intervals, the last time has been since 1934.

Burial took place Wednesday, September 14th from Our Lady of the Gulf church at a Requiem High Mass at 10 o'clock with Msgr. A. J. Gmelch officiating. The Brothers of the Sacred Heart sang the Mass and acted as pallbearers. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Emmett Demoran, proprietor of Demoran's Radio Service, shown here surrounded by his wares at last year's REA show, will have a similar display set up in the next REA Day exhibit, scheduled for October 7 and 8.

HOW TO DO IT

To The Editor:

I have attended a great many meetings all along the Coast, wherein the construction of a new steel and concrete bridge across the Bay of St. Louis, was the paramount issue involved in the discussions.

I understand that it is estimated by the highway department, that a two lane bridge of this type would cost about $6,000,000 and we must not overlook the fact that at this time there is not one thin dime available for this purpose.

It seems to me, the logical approach to the curing of what seems to be a difficult situation, is not so difficult, if we citizens along the Coast, will dispense with our hysterical attitude and take into consideration, the fact the east one-third of this bridge, as it presently stands, was built brand new, within the past two years and at a cost of over $400,000 and on the same basis, the portion from the draw span to the east end, could be re-built for $800,000 or not to exceed $1,000,000, taking into consideration that the draw span is just as good as it ever was, excepting possibly the decking. Under this plan, we would have a complete new bridge, the life of which would be 20 or 25 years.

Of course, the rebuttal will crop up; it will not be a fireproof structure. My argument against this point is, two well equipped and manned fire boats can be furnished and berthed near by, one at the Herkerson Point Canal and one at the Bay St. Louis end of the bridge capable of giving twenty-four hour protection to this bridge, at less than one tenth of the cost of the interest that would prevail on a $6,200,000 investment.

Frankly, I do not believe that a concrete and steel structure would have come through the 1947 storm undamaged. I do not think that any experienced bridge engineer will tell you that it would have done so, with an over-turn steel barge beating against it, as was the case in 1947.

Why is there a necessity at this time, as some argue there is, for a four lane bridge? Within the last two weeks, I have been over U. S. Highway 90 from the Alabama line to the Texas line and the only decent part of it lies in Mississippi.

Better Roads Key To Mississippi's Wealth, County Men Are Told

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 14—Mississippi's undeveloped rural roads hold the key to the state's prosperity and could bring additional economic value "running into the millions each year," the Mississippi Association of Supervisors was told here today.

But, warned Ben F. Ostergren, Washington, D. C., manager of the County Highway Officials' Division of the American Road Builders' Association, "to insure maximum value for every dollar spent, improved county highway administration is needed, and politics must be kept out of highway personnel affairs."

CRITICIZED DELAY
Addressing opening sessions of the 20th annual convention of the county supervisors' group at Buena Vista Hotel, Mr. Ostergren termed as "folly" further delay in improving local and secondary roads, and was sharply critical of those who argue that work on those roads must necessarily be delayed until the primary highway system is completed.

Expressing belief that obsolescence and inadequacy of the primary road system probably always will continue to exist because of increased traffic and changing conditions, the ARBA official declared:

"If we accept the theory that the primary road system must be made perfect first, improvement of secondary roads will be delayed forever."

REVENUE DECREASED
Tracing the history of road improvement financing in Mississippi, Mr. Ostergren said:

"In 1923, 92 per cent of county and local road revenues were obtained from your county and local sources. From 1923 to 1945, local road revenues from local sources gradually declined to about 38 per cent. Revenue for local roads obtained from Federal and state sources had increased from about 8 per cent in 1923 to 62 per cent in 1945. It is not to the advantage of the local communities to slough off all their financial responsibility. We must consider the advantage of improved local roads to the counties and local communities. An improved road makes possible a tremendous saving in our over-all transportation costs.

Possibly, some of us folks, just do not travel around enough. In particular, I cite you to the numerous signs at almost all bridges on this route in Louisiana. On most bridges the load limit is fifteen tons and for a long stretch, west of Lafayette, trucks are not even permitted to use this highway on account of the bridges. But, this may surprise you right in the heart of Houma, La., and on U. S. 90 there is a bridge across a bayou, with a glaring sign which reads, "Trucks of more than 3 gross tons not allowed." I cite you the fact that on the Bay St. Louis bridge that has had such wide adverse publicity, there is not even a speed limit sign, not to mention a load limit sign. Evidently the bridge is safe. The past two or three minor fire scares, including the one of September 11, have been successfully handled without damage or traffic interruption. Had a proper patrol, such as I propose been set up, the affair would have been handled without a lot of fanfare.

The point that I want to bring out is that it is my opinion that inasmuch as the life of a creosote structure is 20 or 25 years, it would be smart for us to rebuild the present bridge from the draw span to the west end, in a similar manner of construction, that the east end from the draw span was rebuilt. Take a small part of the interest money that we would be paying on bonds for a super-bridge and spend it on protection. THERE IS NO EXCUSE FOR SERIOUS DAMAGE TO EVER BEFALL THIS BRIDGE, IF ANY SERIOUS EFFORT IS MADE TO PREVENT IT.

At a later date, when we know exactly just what kind of a highway 90 our sister states propose to build, some 20 or 25 years hence, we will be in better shape to match them in an intelligent manner in any move that they may make.

I submit this study to the members of the Mississippi Highway Commission and to the general public of the Gulf Coast for their consideration. If we are financially embarrassed, why try to kid ourselves. Let us work this thing out and stay within our means. Two fireboats and their maintenance, represent a small investment, and goodness knows, that water is convenient and plentiful.

H. W. LeTissier.

Providing funds for this purpose then becomes more of an investment than a cost.

"In order to improve our local roads to an adequate standard, two things are needed—improvement in county highway administration, and sufficient funds to do the job. There are no activities that can produce more economic loss than those in road building and maintenance when the funds are not spent efficiently.

NEED ADMINISTRATION
"The sums of money available for local road improvement are not large. If satisfactory progress is to be made, we must have improvement of our local highway administration. When you are considering the services of your county, you try to make them as valuable to the county as possible. When you hire a man to supervise your schools you hire a man to represent the county legally, you hire a lawyer who is trained for that work. And when you hire a man to supervise your road construction and maintenance, you ought to hire a trained man who knows how to get the most out of the dollars he spends in your local rural roads."

COUNTY TEACHERS MEET SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY NIGHT

A discussion of the equalization of teachers' pay will be held Monday evening at 7:30 in the Bay High school auditorium. E. E. Breland, Hancock county superintendent of education, announced this week.

All county school teachers are urged to attend since the meeting will be a forerunner of a larger gathering scheduled for Gulfport Wednesday, September 21 at 8 p. m. At the Gulfport meeting the report of the governor's committee which have been investigating the teachers pay situation will be discussed.

The committee's investigations have sought to determine the need for equalization of teachers' pay on the basis of qualifications, experience and a national teachers' examination. Following a "frank and free" discussion of the committee's reports teachers will have the privilege of expressing their approval or disapproval of the committee's recommendations by secret ballot.

Mr. Breland urges all teachers in Hancock county to attend the meeting at Gulfport and to voice an opinion either for or against the proposals.

Dogs And Cats - Snakes and Spats Help To 'Prop' Up Little Theatre

When a finished production is presented to a theatre audience, few if any, of the patrons give attention to the individual "props" on the stage, the cast, the scenic picture, are enjoyed as a composite whole. And yet it is the "unusual prop" that lends individualism to stage productions.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, is no exception in demanding some of these "unusuals." Since practically all props used in the theatre are borrowed from our generous friends, we have run the gamut, and included almost everything conceivable.

One merchant in town, whose stock includes practically everything saleable, except a litter of kittens, actually procured and loaned the theatre a litter of kittens.

Another unusual request was for several live snakes. Nobody likes slimy reptiles, yet the call was answered by one gallant youth, and an opening night several writhing, slinky monsters reared their ugly heads, to spit defiance at a charmed audience and cast.

From mongrel pups to well trained parlor dogs, the canine family has been represented and has taken curtain calls with the stars of the shows. Aside from animated "props," there are requests for many material things that are as antedated as to be practically obsolete to non-professionals. One play called for a lush setting of the early Victorian era furniture was rapidly obtained, but window curtains were another question, however, with the "spirit of never say die," one lady climbed her attic steps, and presto! sumptuous lace curtains, like grandmother hung in the "front parlor," were proudly displayed after better than a half century in retirement!

Flowers from an intrinsic background for most stage settings, and our theatre has been provided most lavishly when the call is out, from wedding bouquets to field flowers.

In the coming production "Rebecca" and heirloom gown will adorn the leading lady in one scene. This valuable article of clothing is the possession of a local resident, who has graciously loaned it for a "prop." Replicas of wonderful tintype photographs have been reproduced by local artists. Lorgnettes—solid gold ones no less—and mink stoles have been called for and received, miniature battle ships, spats, and pneumatic drills!

We could probably go on an infinitum about props, but since space is limited, we would like to take this opportunity to thank each donor of props for his generosity. Only a producer can really appreciate the zest the unusual adds to a play.

And as we advance with our theatrical art, who knows, we may even call for the Army Mule and the Navy Goat, and in the opinion of this writer, some kind Hancock County resident will call the theatre and say, "I can furnish that prop."

For the Ladies: A Diet That Really Works

We went out visiting the other night and the ladies were talking away about weight-reducing diets. One of them had a special "15-day Hollywood diet" guaranteed to slim her down fifteen pounds' worth. Another was living on bananas and skim milk!

I might have known the missus would get the bug, too, and sure enough the other day she asks me, "Joe, what kind of a diet do you think I ought to go on?"

"Mother," I says, "the only diet I would ever recommend to anyone is simply MODERATION. I wouldn't trust any of those get-thin-quick diets. Simply cut down on desserts, bread, butter, sweets and fats—but when you do, even do your cutting down moderately."

From where I sit, moderation is the watchword. Moderation with food, with smoking or with the enjoyment of a friendly glass of temperate beer or ale. Actually, moderation adds to the enjoyment of just about anything.

KIRK CATCHES GAR

If E. P. Kirkpatrick, better known as Kirk, high hats his friends just try to understand that Kirk caught a 45 pound gar in the waters off his home Tuesday. He had quite a number assisting him to land the sea monster and his entire neighborhood was out to see the fun. Mr. Kirkpatrick weighed the gar, and then it became the property of "Jody" Gex who cut it up for bait.

Bible Lesson Scheduled

The Womens Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church will have the second lesson of its study course, "The Bible and Human Rights," Friday, September 16 at 3:30 p. m. Miss Florence Dixon will be in charge of the program.

Miss Thelma Namais left Monday for Mobile, Ala., where she will visit friends.

Collect Cones, Earn Coin Forestry Service Advises

State College, Miss.—Farmers collecting pine cones will receive high prices this season when they sell the cones to the Mississippi Forest Service or the United States Forest Service, who need them for seed, according to J. S. Terrell, Extension forester.

A dollar and one-half per bushel is being paid for slash and loblolly cones, the forester said. Longleaf cones will bring 75 cents per bushel. There is less demand for short leaf cones.

It does not take many cones to make a bushel. If many cones are available in the area, substantial income can be earned.

Cones are being bought by local area forest rangers or by district rangers of the U. S. Forest Service. Collect cones from the trees just before the seed are shed, Mr. Terrell explained. This time will vary in the different counties, but county agents and local rangers can give the exact dates.

Slash pine cones are being collected now.

If a sawmill is operating nearby it is easy to follow its operation and gather cones from the tops of trees that have been cut. Otherwise, long pruning saws or hooks can be used to collect cones from standing trees. While the cones are rather scarce this year, many trees growing in open stands, or individually have good crops. Trees in richer soils produce the most cones.

After the cones are purchased by foresters, they will be dried, and the seed extracted and put into cold storage for the winter. Seed is then used for planting at the nurseries from which tree seedlings are made available to farmers.

About 24,000,000 tree seedlings were produced in Mississippi this year. A much greater number will be needed next year.

Gathering pine cones offers a way for 4-H Clubs to raise money, Mr. Terrell suggested. Groups can stage contests to see which can gather the most cones.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ball of Kiln, have announced the birth of a son Wednesday, September 7, 1949, at the Kings Daughters Hospital.

—Mrs. E. F. Fahey, Jr., took her little son, Edmund F. Fahey, III, and his little friends, Peggy and Kinta Kergosien, Ty Robin and Everett Kergosien to Pontchartrain Beach Saturday afternoon.

—Captain Charles Moore, Highway 90, is in the Marine Hospital, New Orleans where he underwent a major operation. Reports from him are that he is doing nicely.

COUNTY AGENTS' NOTES

'Know How' Makes Hancock County Pecan Crop Important Enterprise

By Howard Simmons

Pecan production is an important cash enterprise in at least 20 counties in Mississippi of which Hancock is one. According to the 1945 census 6,000,000 pounds of pecans were harvested from the state of Mississippi valued at 1,488,000.

Pecan trees have often been thought of only as forest trees since they are native in river bottom forests. Even under native conditions such trees are generally less productive than is commonly believed. When planted for production of nuts, pecans become crop plants just as are cotton and corn, and must be cared for as such. To grow pecans successfully on a commercial basis, it is necessary to follow a complete production program including recommended practices on soil selection, suitable varieties, proper tree spacing, fertilization, cultivation, use of cover crops, and control of insects and diseases. Failure to carry out one or more of these practices often will result in complete loss of effort and money spent on the other practices.

PREVENT EROSION

The fertility and moisture-holding capacity of the soil cannot be maintained and improved when the slope of the land is sufficient to cause erosion. Terracing to prevent erosion is just as essential on land planted to pecans as in the case of other crops. Before planting a new orchard on sloping land, construct adequate terraces and lay out the orchard on contour lines. On such terraced land, plant rows of trees on top of wide terraces in order to maintain the terraces in an established orchard.

Soil for pecan planting should be thoroughly prepared by deep breaking, plowing, disking, and providing surface drainage before trees are set. When an artificial "hard-pan" condition has occurred on certain types of old crop land, such condition should be corrected by subsoiling.

SUITABLE VARIETIES

Pecan varieties have been developed through selection of desirable seedling trees, propagated by budding or grafting in nurseries, and distributed for trial or orchard planting under a variety name. Of the scores of named varieties introduced, only a few have proved suitable and worthy of growing in South Mississippi. They are Stuart, Lewis and Moore. The Schley is seriously affected by scab disease in the southern and central sections of the state. Recent crops of Success nuts have also been almost entirely destroyed by scab in the southern part of the state. Moore and Stuart have been more resistant to scab in Mississippi than the other varieties. As they have been known to scab in some localities, however, it may become necessary to spray them for this disease. The Farley variety, which has proved successful and resistant to scab where it has been grown, is recommended for trial planting.

ALTERNATE PLANTING

When a pecan orchard is set out, the trees may be planted at the permanent distance, or closer together and part of them cut out later. Since it is hard for most people to decide to thin the stand of trees when the time for it comes, this should be considered in planning the new orchard. One practical method is to place the rows 80 to 100 feet apart, and plant the trees at half that distance in the rows. A variety that begins to bear crops at an early age, like Moore, should be planted every other tree in the row with a variety that is slow to start bearing, like Stuart. When the trees are 25 to 30 years old, depending on the growth they have made, they should be thinned to permanent distance.

It is generally better for growers to buy trees from a nursery than to grow their own. Trees with 1-year-old tops are recommended, as they stand transplanting better than old trees, require less care, and are therefore more economical. Nursery trees are sold according to the height of the tops. Trees of the 4 to 5 foot and 5 to 6 foot sizes are the best to plant.

FERTILIZE CAREFULLY

The holes for planting trees should be made deep and large enough to set the trees about 1 to 3 inches deeper than they grow in the nursery and to prevent crowding or blending the roots. Do not apply any manure or fertilizer close to the roots, but in digging holes keep the topsoil separate from the subsoil so that it can be used for filling around the roots. Pack the soil well in the hole if the soil is dry. Never let the roots of nursery trees dry out before or during the planting operation. Early winter is the best time for planting pecan trees.

The tops of the newly transplanted trees should be cut back to one-third or one-half their original height. So many of the feeding roots have been cut off in digging, that the trees often do not live unless the top is cut back in proportion. Trees that are cut back also make better growth than those that are not. The cut should be made about one inch above the top bud that is left, as the cut stub will dry up and die back for an inch or so.

UP TO 50 POUNDS

Pecan trees require and respond to proper fertilization as much as or more than most other crops. It is often thought that since only a few pecan trees are planted, so the acre they do not need much fertilizer. By comparing the amount of roots, wood, leaves, and seed on an acre of bearing pecan trees with the amount of roots, stalks, leaves, and seed on an acre of cotton, the large amount of fertilizer often needed to grow vigorous trees and produce high yields of nuts becomes evident.

Usually the smallest amount of fertilizers that should be used is two pounds per year of tree age, and it should be applied annually. Bearing trees from 20 to 25 years old should be given at least 50 pounds per tree.

Cover crops are needed to help control erosion on sloping land, particularly during the winter and early spring. Plowing under winter cover crops have proved to be an economical way of fertilizing pecan trees. Leguminous cover crops, such as the vetches and clovers, take nitrogen from the air through nodules on their roots and this nitrogen is released to the soil when the cover crops are plowed under. The organic matter from cover crops rots quickly, but before it has decayed, it helps to hold moisture and plant food material in light sandy soils and to loosen heavy tight soils.

CULTIVATE

A good cultural program to keep the soil in proper condition and to control weeds is just as important for pecans as it is for cotton or corn. Cultivation in pecan orchards also is helpful in controlling certain diseases and insects.

The land should be plowed before the pecan trees start growth the following spring, being certain that all old leaves, leaf stems and shucks are covered with 3 to 4 inches of soil. This practice, called orchard sanitation helps control certain pecan leaf diseases. The spores corresponding to seeds of higher plants, that cause infection by these diseases in the spring are carried over winter on the old leaves and shucks. The spores are shot into the air in damp weather and start growth on the new tender leaves, shoots, and nuts. Covering the old leaves and shucks with soil while the trees are bare so that the spores cannot be shot into the air will definitely help in controlling these diseases. The early plowing also helps by returning the cover crop to the soil so that the plant food material from this decayed green matter becomes available to the trees early in the spring when it is of most value.

Synopsis Of The Report Of An Audit Made Of Hancock County By The State Department of Audit For The Fiscal Year Period Ended September 30, 1948

CONTENTS

Condensed Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of all Funds Combined
Detailed Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of Road Maintenance Funds.

Combined Statement of Assets and Liabilities of Funds.
Schedule of Road Working Machinery and Equipment.
Schedule of School Transportation Equipment.

Trend of Bonded Debt.

COMMENTS ON RESULT OF AUDIT

It was found in the course of this audit (1) that a loan made from the Road Protection Bond Fund to the Sea Wall Road Fund in 1946 in the amount of $7,500.00 has not been repaid as required by law; (2) that the proceeds of sales of stumpage from Sixteenth Section lands were placed to the credit of Sixteenth Section Interest Funds instead of to the Principal Fund as the law directs; and (3) that a caterpillar tractor with a book value of $2,500.00 was unaccounted for. Save for these exceptions, the results of the audit for this year were generally satisfactory.

As shown by the accompanying statement of receipts and expenditures, revenue receipts from all sources amounted to a total of $632,119.08 and operating costs amounted to a total of $457,461.18, exclusive of charges for depreciation. Thus it is seen that revenues exceeded cash outlay for expenses of operation by $174,657.90. Compared to the previous year, this excess represents an increase of $106,785.13.

Total revenue receipts for this year of $632,119.08 exceed the total for the previous year by $118,539.10, the total for that year being $513,579.98. This increase in revenues may be accounted for in increases in funds received from both local and outside sources.

Total expense disbursements amounting to $457,461.18, as shown above, represent an increase of $11,753.97 over the previous year, the total for that year being $445,707.21. Costs of operation of schools during 1948 accounts for this increase. The accompanying statement of funds assets and liabilities shows that the county closed the year's operation with a net increase in the assets for all funds in the amount of $20,756.51, during the year.

Valuable information with respect to expenditures of road and bridge funds may be had by a careful inspection of the accompanying statement, whereupon expenditures for the various purposes are shown more in detail.

As shown by the accompanying condensed statement of the county's bonded debt, the issuance of $16,000.00 of new bonds against redemption of old bonds in the amount of $100,300.00 resulted in a decrease in this debt of $84,300.00 during the year. This debt, amounting to $1,499,500.00 at the close of the year, represents approximately 32% of the total assessed valuation of all properties in the county.

The information contained in this supplemental report was prepared for publication in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 426 of the Laws of 1948 for the benefit of the citizens of Hancock County. Any further information desired concerning the financial affairs of this county may be obtained from the audit report itself, which is on file in the office of the Chancery Clerk.

In The Matter of the Personal Assessment Rolls of Hancock County, Mississippi

This day came on to be considered by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, the matter of objections to the Personal Assessment Rolls for the year 1949, and it appearing that the said assessment rolls have been heretofore filed by the Tax Assessor of this County, and has been examined and equalized by this Board of Supervisors as required by law, and that the required notice has been given to the public and to the taxpayers in the manner provided law, at least ten days prior to this meeting;

"PUBLIC NOTICE"

"To the Public and to the Taxpayers of Hancock County, Mississippi:

"You are hereby notified that the Personal Property assessment roll of Hancock County, for the year 1949, has been equalized according to law, and that said roll is ready to inspection and examination, and that any objections to said roll, or any assessment therein contained, shall be made in writing and filed with the clerk of the Board of Supervisors of said County, on or before the First Monday of August, 1949, at his office in the Courtroom of said County, and that all assessments to which no objections are then and there made, will be finally approved by said Board of Supervisors, and that all assessments to which objections are made, and which may be corrected and properly determined by said Board, will be made final by said Board of Supervisors, and that said roll and the assessments contained therein will be approved by said Board of Supervisors; and that,

"1. This Board will be in session, for the purpose of hearing objections to the said assessments which may be filed at the courthouse in the City of Bay St. Louis, said County, and State, on the 1st day of August, 1949, and

"2. This Board of Supervisors will remain in session from day to day until all objections, lawfully filed, shall have been disposed of and all proper corrections made in the said roll.

Witness the signature and seal of said Board of Supervisors this 18th day of July, 1949.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY

By: J. S. Shaw, President Protem
and A. C. Mitchell, Clerk

Ordered and adjudged this the 18th day of July, 1949.

J. S. Shaw, President.

It is, Therefore, Ordered and Adjudged, that this Board of Supervisors will proceed to hear and determine all objections and exceptions thereto which may be filed with respect to said assessment rolls, and the assessments therein contained; that this Board will sit from day to day until all objections and exceptions have been heard and determined; and all proper corrections made; that this board will proceed to further equalize the said assessments, and, wherever it appears equitable, will increase or diminish the valuation of any property, so that property of the same value shall be assessed for an equal sum; that this Board will add to the roll any property found to have been omitted; that where an individual assessment is found to have been omitted, that where an individual assessment is increased, or where any omitted property is added to the roll, due notice will be given of such increase or addition, and the owner of the property given an opportunity to present objections as required by Section 889, Mississippi Code of 1942, that this Board will correct and change any erroneous assessment discovered or brought to its attention; and that this Board will proceed to do and perform any and all things required by law with respect to said assessment rolls and the assessments therein contained, so that all property of every taxpayer will be assessed equally and uniformly.

Ordered and adjudged this the 1st day of August, 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bourgeois of Greole, Miss., are visiting Mrs. Jake Usher. Mrs. Bourgeois is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Usher.

There will be a civic association meeting Saturday September 17 at 8 p. m.

The building committee of St. Ann's Catholic church held its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. September 7 at Mrs. A. J. Carrick's residence.

The full committee was present including Rev. Father Costello.

The committee reported that one more step has been completed on the interior work and that is the wiring and lights for the church. The committee extended thanks to Mr. A. J. Carrick and Mr. A. E. Garcia for their work free of cost for wiring the church.

The committee voted favorably on the next work procedure on the interior which is to complete the sanctuary and the ceiling and walks of the church.

The committee is carrying on the rebuilding of the church exterior and interior strictly on a cash basis. Any-one feeling inclined to help in this worthy cause may send check or cash donation to any one on the committee which is as follows: Mrs. A. J. Carrick, Mrs. H. L. Wesner, Mr. A. E. Garcia, Mr. J. G. Treutel, Mr. H. L. Wesner, chairman, Cermont Harbor post office, Mississippi.

Mary Louise Bing celebrated her ninth birthday September 5.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwartz were Mrs. A. St. Pierre and children, Mr. and Mrs. Farenhop, Mr. F. C. Lohmann and Mrs. Mattie Black.

Corporal Peter Ashley Wesner is spending a 22-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wesner, on Forest avenue. Corporal Wesner is enjoying fishing with his friends in Cermont Harbor and quite a few trips have been made so far to Three Oaks Bayou and other fishing holes with fair success.

Corporal Wesner is a younger brother of Rev. Fr. T. J. Wesner, who visited his parents in Cermont. Corporal Wesner will leave according to orders from the U. S. Army on September 23 for some post in the Caribbean. Corporal Wesner has been stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C. for the last 14 months.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gloor of Burlington, Iowa, dropped in to spend 3 days in the past week with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wesner on Forest avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Gloor are contemplating the purchase of a home with about 10 acres in Cermont Harbor to raise pecan trees.

J. W. Bryan Weds In New Orleans

Miss Jerrye Joan Mirandona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Louis Mirandona of New Orleans, was married to Mr. John William Bryan, Jr., formerly of Bay St. Louis now of New Orleans, Saturday September 19, in the Holy Name of Jesus church. Rev. Father Charles C. Chapman officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white embroidered with silver over a tulle taffeta. The tight fitting bodice had a deep square neck line, and a wide taffeta cummerbund encircled the waist. The long full skirt ended in a short train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was held in place by a wreath of lilies of the valley; her round bristled bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

There were five bridesmaids, two of whom were sisters of the bride. They wore dresses of white tulle made with short packets and long full skirts. Their bouquets were of white daisies and similar flowers, in the form of coronets, were worn on their heads.

Mr. Bryan had his brother, James Bryan, as his best man. There were eight ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Newcomb Boulevard where Mrs. Mirandona was receiving in a green taffeta dress. Receiving with her was Mrs. Bryan, mother of the bridegroom, who wore a brown crepe dress with a corsage of green orchids.

For traveling the bride wore an ensemble of wine colored crepe trimmed with a stole collar. She wore
